Sommelier's Challenge

$18

A random selection of three 3oz pours served blind for you to identify.

Choose red or white and then taste your wines. When you're ready, tell your server what you think they are. If you correctly name the grape variety for two out of three, the flight is on the house. Plus you get mad respect. For blends, you must name the dominant grape or else say it's a blend and name any grape in the blend.

Will you accept this challenge?
